What Is GPS Basketball In Sydney

Sydney School Basketball is alive and kicking you just need to visit one of the GPS schools on a Saturday morning to see hundreds of student athletes of all ages participating in school basketball. With some of the bigger schools entering over 100 weekly, we decided to have a closer look.

The GPS or Greater Public Schools Association is made of several elite boys schools within the Sydney area. The member schools include Sydney Grammar, Sydney Boys High, The Scots School, The Kings School, SHORE College, Newington College, St Joseph's College, St Ignatius College and The Armidale School who do not participate in the basketball competition.

The GPS basketball competition is played during Terms 4 and 1 each year. The 1st and 2nd teams in each school is usually run by an established basketball coach, strength and conditioning programs, individual workouts and team practices take place throughout the year to ensure success for the school. In recent times players have been offered scholarships to attend the schools

Calling all coaches to submit their best drills to be published. Each month we will publish the best drills that have been submitted, BUT all the drills that have been submitted will be available on the All Aussie website for coaches to use.

Any drill used in the 'In Basketball' newsletter will receive a FREE Aussie Basketball Travellers bag.

Send your drills to michael@allaussie.com.au
